Document Body

Irene,

The Tribe is not seeking EPA review and approval of a report. Most of all, this message is just FYI to you so that you know they are making progress under their 106 workplan.

The Tribe has sent a draft set of Water Quality Standards (WQB) that will be reviewed by the general public in late March. Afterwards, the Tribe will seek EPA approval of their WQS program for regulatory purposes. With the attached message they are mostly informing all of us on their progress towards that effort. I will likely attend the public hearing and will provide you with a summary if you're interested. Ultimately, Water Quality Branch will be making the formal determination about whether to approve their WQS.

Let me know, or Robie Anson, if you have further questions about the attached message. Thanks.
